

Strategic Planning

Overview

Bounces' team of expert facilitators can guide you and your team as you create the plans for your business' future. Large or small, no matter the desired outcome, we can help you create your path, set your goals, develop accountability and track progress to ensure you turn your plans into reality.

Each business and company is different in their needs. So, we work closely with you in development of where you would like your planning session to head. Once the session begins, we guide you and your team to break down problems and build up solutions, resulting in team buy-in and dedication to your future goals.

What is it?

- Undertake environmental analysis to understand where you're at right now.
- Use company values to strengthen your goals.
- Take part in interactive activities to find each team members strengths.
- Develop planning and action taking strategies to build buy-in.
- Build accountability to ensure all team members openly discuss and complete tasks.
- Understand why your goals are important and pass that onto your staff.

Who's it for

These planning sessions are designed for directors, managers, team leaders, and staff to take part in, ensuring that the company's message is clear and universally understood.
