

Strengths Profiling

Overview

Your employees are at the heart of your business. Whether they take care of your clients, book your appointments or write your reports, your employees are the foundation that makes the business what it is. Investing in their professional development is one of the most important decisions you can make as a leader.

Businesses that are using a strengths-based management approach with their employees, have seen improvements in wellbeing, a boost in productivity and are achieving significant business outcomes. Bounce Australia is now offering strengths profiling as one of its specialist services with their own accredited Strengths Profile Practitioner.

What is it?

Strengths profiling was launched in 2009 as a world-leading tool that changes the way we assess, develop and leverage talent in people. It assesses over 60 strengths to measure performance, energy and use, and helps to reveal realised and unrealised strengths, learned behaviours and weaknesses.

If you're ready to become a strengths-based organisation, Bounce is able to help you on your way. We introduce strengths to your team which includes an online assessment and a debrief session to help interpret the results. Reports can be made available for individuals, teams and managers. We can help you use these reports to implement changes to your workplace structures based on the report outcomes.

Who's it for

The Strengths Profiles are for every member of a business or company and are best utilised when used team-wide or business-wide.
